

Messages for Jules

Boyd Payne

Motorsport fans from across the globe have come together in a unanimous show of support for Jules Bianchi. We would dearly love to see you recover & rejoin us in full health. Might I pass on my best wishes for your recovery Jules. Stay strong.

Martin Burstow

Come on Jules, keep fighting! We are all praying for you to make a speedy recovery #ForzaJules #F1Family (Martin Burstow, England)

Ian Nash

Dear Jules, My family and I love to watch you race and we all send our best wishes for a full recovery to get back to doing what you love too. All the best from Ian, Stacey and Ruby-Mae x

Anita

You are a real fighter and we all believe that you can pull through this one. We are all waiting for you to come back. All my thoughts are with you. Forza Jules!!

Hey Jules, I've watched you race over these last couple of seasons in F1 and you are without a shadow of a doubt one of the biggest talents the sport has to offer. Watching TV coverage and talking to friends, I have never heard a bad word said about you. One of the nice guys of F1. Monaco 2014 was a great race and battle for you to get 2 points for the team. Find that courage again Jules, to get to the finish line here. It will be a tough road, but you have the strength to do this. Keep Fighting Jules

Mike Heal (England)

To the loved ones of Jules, To say that I can imagine what you're going through would not be true. I don't think that anyone else can put your grief and helplessness into words. And perhaps even if they could, it wouldn't help. All that can be said, by those of us at arm's length, is that Jules is a lionheart. A person who has so utterly stolen the heart of Formula 1 that the sport itself has paused, has drawn breath and held it, has faded in intensity because one of its own is missing. I hope that it is of comfort that outside the walls of the hospital, there is a world that is willing, praying, hoping, supporting and calling for Jules to fight on. He is everyone's champion right now. We are all locked in hands and hearts, cheering him on to the victory we all know is within him. Our hearts beat for him. We will not rest, we will not falter, whilst he needs us. Forza Jules. And forza you all. We lend you our strength now. Fight on. We are with you. Love always, Cat Connor (UK)

Stephen Stack Keep fighting

Dear Jules, We all just want to see you smile again. Stay strong champ.

Dear Jules, dear Bianchi family! As a great lot of motorsport fans, I'm struggling now to find the words to express all the depth of support, love, prayers and so on, that we all have been sending to you. But I'm sure, you feel it constantly. You see, people from all over the world got united in their prayers for you, and it MUST work. You're not alone. Please, be strong! And let us all hope and wait for positive news! Tous avec Jules!

Stay strong, keep fighting and don't give up. You will win this race! You have the whole F1 family behind you wishing and praying every day. #F1Family #ForzaJules #PrayForJules Sending positivity and hope. Maria and Hannah.

To Jules and his loved ones, We all know how difficult these last 2 weeks have been for you. But trust me when I say this, we are all fighting with you. We stay put for hours on social media sites just to have updates regarding Jules' condition. The crash is something I wouldn't want to replay on my mind or anywhere else, and I cannot fathom how excruciatingly painful it is for you to see and experience it. You and your family have not left my thoughts and prayers and I will continue to do so. In these times of despair, we are tested on how strong and brave we are, and I salute you for never leaving Jules' side and for continuing to be his support system. I will continue to believe that Jules will keep fighting as if he's on the grid. Both you and Jules are brave-hearts and you will get through this. Forza Jules.

Stephanie Gerken

Dear Jules Keep fighting, stay strong. You and your family are always in our thoughts and prayers. We're sending you this message with all our love and support. We have followed you since your Euro F3 days and you have given us some of our loveliest motorsport memories, including your amazing points for Marussia in Monaco. We were thrilled to be there that day. You always have so much time for the fans and we've been delighted to have so many autographs from you and photographs with you. We're looking forward to adding a "Jules Bianchi – Ferrari driver" photo to our treasured collection. Get well soon Jules #ForzaJules Stephanie and Paul (UK)

To Jules and all his loved ones, I've been a fan of Jules for some time now and I've been a great admirer how he always quietly goes about his business with great determination. He comes across as so calm and someone who has his feet firmly on the ground. Of course I cannot begin to imagine what the family is going through right now, but Philippe's words earlier this week were truly touching and went some way as to helping us to understand the difficulty they are in, and for that I am truly grateful. Most of all, I want to say that we are all here for all of you. Jules is a fighter, and we are all here to get you through this. Vamos amigo.

JULES... 15 jours déjà... Tout les mots du monde ne suffisent pas pour exprimer la peine que je ressens en ces moments difficiles... C est un sentiment étrange car lors des derniers malheureux événements en date ,M Schumacher,Rkubica et autres pilotes pour lesquels j éprouve le plus grand respect, je me suis toujours dit que ces mecs là étaient conscients des risques etc bla bla bla... Puis je finissais par mettre ces tragiques faits sur le compte de la fatalité... comme la plupart des gens d ailleurs... Mais face à ce petit gars qui lorsque je le regarde en weekend de grand prix et en dehors, je perçois en lui une réelle gentillesse, une sincérité et une joie de vivre qui m émeu et ne peux au final me laisser me résoudre à un tel sentiment... Je me dit que la vie est tellement injuste... Personne ne mérite ça et surtout pas un ptit gars qui à encore toute la vie devant lui... Même si l on ne se connaît pas personnellement, je me permets d embrasser chaleureusement les proches de JULES, famille ou autre et si il vous plait, si vous lisez ce message, embrassez le pour moi et toutes les personnes qui le soutiennent mais qui malheureusement n ont pas eu l immense honneur de le côtoyer... Merci. JULES BAT TOI MEC!!!! #forzajules #17 #couragejules #staystrong

Dearest Jules, Seeing such huge potential in you racing fills me with joy every weekend. I'm 15 and without a doubt you are a massive inspiration to me – the way you are always happy and smiling, I just remember watching the race in Monaco and feeling so proud of you. You are one of the loveliest, most admirable people and we all know that the atmosphere in the paddock is not the same without you there, so keep fighting. My thoughts are with you and your family everyday, and I cannot bare to imagine what they are going through. You really do have the strength to pull through, we need you to. Stay strong. Love always, Beth xxx UK

Keep pushing Jules. All Motorsport world is with you and your family. You are not walking alone, neither your family, we are pushing with you and we are pretty sure you will leave the hospital by your own. My best wishes from Spain. Tous avec Jules.

To Jules and the Bianchi family, The formula one community is with you, fight hard and never give up. We know you have it in you. You are a truly delightful person and a determined racer. Stay positive. Get well soon

Dear Jules and Family Over the past two seasons of F1 we have seen you light up the track with both your speed and your smile. You are a shining superstar. Keep fighting. Stay strong. All thoughts and prayers have been with Jules and his loved ones since Suzuka, and they will remain so. All of Motorsport is willing you forward in your biggest fight We all send hope and love to keep your star shining. Get Well Soon #ForzaJules Vicki (UK)

Aida

Jules, we pray that you will be up and racing soon. We pray for strength and enduring faith for you family.

To Jules and his loved ones... Ever since the crash every F1 fan has been muted. Waiting for news. He has done absolutely amazing to make it this far. As soon as I heard he was in hospital I prayed for him to be ok. When I heard he wasn't i crumbled inside. I'm a huge Marussia fan so that made matters worse. Ever since I have been praying for him. We need to have faith. Jules has proved and still is that he is a fighter and not going to give up. The worst thing is we can't do anything. I really can't imagine what is going through the minds of his friends and family right now. I have no words for how sad this is. I really hope he gets better. For his family please have faith. We are all supporting you and Jules, make sure that he is ok. I have no idea what is going through your minds right now. All I have to say is we're here for you and Jules and will do that for as long as it takes and way after that. Get well soon Jules

Jules & family, I have been a fan of f1 for decades, but have never before felt so connected to the sport as I was when watching the events of the Japanese GP. You and your family are in my heart, and my hopes for your recovery never far from my mind. Keep fighting Jules, you can do it. David

Dear Bianchi Family I wanna give you all the strength to fight with Jules and to let you guys know that we fans carry your weight with you. To see him fighting this far after what happened shows how amazingly strong son you have. And i know, he will fight to the end and truly wish it will be happy one. I've been following Jules career from GP2 to this day. It feels like he's someone i know.

Toni Matilainen With love from Finland

Very few people in Formula One have made an impact in the way that Jules has within only two years. While it is true that no one had anything bad to say about Jules, it is also true that many people deemed him one of the greatest talents on the grid that would become world champion one day for sure. Not only is he one of the best drivers in Formula One, his character suggests he is one of the most brilliant people to meet and overall is a genuinely fantastic person. For these reasons I, along with many people, send all the positive thoughts and wishes that I can to hope that Jules makes a full recovery. To the Bianchi family, you have all of the support of the world of Formula One including all of the fans and hopefully that helps along the road to recovery. Jamie Barker – England

The moment I saw you drive I said “he will be World Champion one day”, then this season you were proving me right. There is nothing I can say that has not already been said, I can merely reinforce the out-pour of hope, love and respect and urge you to keep fighting. I hope so much that you get to read this one day, just before you put on your helmet and go and win the championship. Good Luck. Michael Bonner-MacKenzie UK

I met you back in Singapore just 2 weeks before your accident, took a photo with you and asked when you would be coming back to Ferrari. I was really excited for you to fight for the championship in the coming years. I was devastated when you had that accident. A great guy, and future F1 champion. I pray you win this fight and come out stronger than before. The world is supporting the Bianchi family. Stay strong! #ForzaJules Nicholas Teo Singapore

Jules, We're all waiting for the day you look through these messages and see the support and love from us all, and we hope that day comes soon. Our prayers and thoughts are with you always, please pull through, keep fighting Jules! #ForzaJules Holly xxx ~From England

Dear Jules, family and friends, I've been a fan of F1 for a long time and have seen a lot of things happen on track. 1 thing I never thought I would feel was the feeling I had back in 1994. Now, 20 years later, Suzuka reminded me again of the dangers in this sport. 1 "unlucky" situation can be enough. Therefore I hope and pray you will pull through this and will recover in the best way possible. Also to your family and friends I would like to express my thoughts. Although it is 1 of the greatest sports in the world, it also has moments you rather wish you didn't see or experienced. Get well soon. #ForzaJules

Jules and the Bianchi family, We are thinking of you all through this extremely difficult time. We are praying for Jules constantly – he is always in our thoughts. We believe in Jules. He's strong – he's shown us just how much every time he gets in a car. He'll give it absolutely everything and he will not give up. We're with you all every step of the way – Jules, and you all have our full support. We're cheering him on now more than ever before. You can do this champ. Come on Jules! #ForzaJules.

Jules and family....hoping for the best in the future and to bringing back a hero to the car.

Dear Jules and family, I actually don't know what to say, other than that I know for sure you'll survive. You're a fighter, which you not only saw in the F1, but I think the past few weeks too. Just remember, keep fighting! We love you, get well soon! Lots of love, Silva Bos, The Netherlands

I still can't believe what happened... I'm constantly thinking about you Jules, I know you can pull through this, you are a fighter and I'm sure you'll win this battle! Keep fighting and be strong! Meeting you this year was seriously the best thing that happened to me... I've never met someone like you! I know you are strong enough to pull through this, I'm praying for you every day! My thoughts and prayers are with you and your family at this difficult time! #ForzaJules!!! Get well soon Jules!!♥

Dear Jules and the Bianchi family, Not a day has gone by since the accident in which you have not been a major part of my thoughts, and I know the same can be said for so many Formula One fans around the globe. Jules is a massively talented driver, and beyond that has proved himself an extremely hardworking and dedicated young man within the Marussia team. The fact that so many people who have never met or spoken to Jules can say such things with great confidence speaks volumes about his character, and I know those traits will help him in his battle now. Evidently we would all love to someday see Jules racing in the competitive car he so richly deserves, but above and beyond that we simply wish for him to be well and happy, whatever that may mean after an accident of such magnitude. I am young enough to have never lived through a driver death, and I hope I never will. The fear and worry I personally felt after the accident was overwhelming, and I cannot imagine or begin to relate to what you are going through. I just hope that you know that thousands are thinking of you and sending their love and support every day, and I hope that it helps. All my support, love, and thoughts remain with you always, Victoria #ForzaJules

Jules, tu es un garçon gentil avec les fans, je le sais parce que je t'ai rencontré à Monaco cette année. Toujours à Monaco tu as démontré que tu es un pilote formidable. Gagner deux points avec une Marussia à Monaco est une conquête importante et tu as fait comprendre que tu peux avoir un grand futur dans le monde de la Formule 1. Ton accident a devasté tout le monde, surtout les fans de la Formule 1, comme moi. Nous avons écrit beaucoup de message sur Twitter pour te donner du courage, aussi avec l'hashtag #ForzaJules. La Formule 1 est une grande famille qui s'est réunie pour te soutenir. J'espère avec tout mes forces que tu peux retourner à ta vie normale parce que tu es un garçon gentil et plein de talent. Tu es un pilote de Formule 1, tu es un héros. Gagne la course la plus importante de ta vie! Comment a dit ton bon ami JEV, "si tu as gagné deux points avec une Marussia, tu peux faire l'impossible. Tu sais faire l'impossible, Jules, fais-le encore". On continuera à prier et à espérer pour toi. Affectueusement Irène <3

Christine, Philippe, J'ai eu la chance de rencontrer Jules cette année à Spa. Depuis des mois je me dis que j'aurais peut être la chance de l'interviewer en tant que champion du monde. Je crois en lui, comme tout le monde et je sais qu'il reviendra. Tout le monde est avec vous, avec Mauro Mélanie et Tom, avec Camille et Lorenzo. Nous sommes tous avec vous. Amitiés et soutien. Nina, France. #ForzaJules

Dear Jules and his loved ones, You are all in my thoughts every day and I continue to try and give you the strength to get through this. Racing drivers live and strive to beat the odds, it's what they're best at, and I have faith that Jules will do that now when it counts most. We're all behind you. Keep fighting! Love, Catherine Benham (UK)

Jules, I have only been watching formula 1 for the past few years, and so what happened in Suzuka came as a gigantic shock to me. It is painful to imagine just what your family and friends are feeling at this time, but hopefully the thought that so many other people around the world are united in support and admiration of you is helping them in some small way, and maybe, just maybe, one day soon they will sit with you smiling and laughing again and watching you spray the champagne on the podium. Every morning and every night I pray for you, so keep fighting and come back to us because you're missed A LOT! Good Luck Jules – Annie xxxx

Formula 1 will never be the same! I hope you will get through this! Keep fighting! No day goes by without thinking about you and your family, I hope that your family can feel the love and thoughts from all the fans over the world. and that it helps them to stay strong! We all hope our f1 hero's will be safe, and after your crash I lost some passion for the sport. this may never happen again! It doesn't matter who will win the title, and it doesn't matter who drives where next year. There is only 1 important thing and that is that you get better!! The morning of the Japanese GP we get out of bed to support our own driver or team, but now we're all supporting you!! Stay strong dear Jules! X Mariska

Rebecca

Jules, You got a Marussia into the points in Monaco, and you regularly pull performances out of that car that I'm not sure are actually possible. That same strength and determination will get you through this. The world of F1 is not the same without your presence, and all Motorsport fans want to see you race again. Every prayer and positive thought I have goes out to you and your family. Keep fighting Jules. #ForzaJules

Kom op Jules ...Keep the Faith

Jules & the Bianchi family, You are all in my thoughts and prayers constantly, as the whole motorsport community awaits good news. We are all here for you. I cannot even begin to imagine how hard this is, and can only send my strength to you. If there's anyone that can pull through this, it's Jules & we can only hope it comes sooner rather than later. Toutes mes pensées sont avec vous.
Maddie (England) x

Jules, I still can't believe what happened 2 weeks ago in Suzuka, I cried when I first found out how serious your injury actually was, I have not stopped thinking about you since the incident happened. Seeing your name above the garage in Sochi over the weekend was a beautiful, heartwarming... But at the same time heartbreaking gesture. When you do wake up I hope you watch all this back and see how much everyone loves and cares for you. And besides you have to recover from this because I'm planning on watching a 3 way battle for the championship in 2017 Abu Dhabi, between yourself, Kevin and JEV. Stay strong and keep fighting through this, everyone has you in their thoughts and wishes you a speedy recovery. Forza Jules Stef xxxx

Dear Jules, it's been two weeks since that accident in Suzuka and I've tried to think of a day after that where I'm not thinking about you and I haven't found it, I pray every night, I spend the whole day checking for updates and good news and all I can wish for right now is love, strength and patience for your family and loved ones, you're still here for a reason and I know you can get through this, we need to see you on the track again doing the impossible and putting smiles in our faces, you have a bright future and I'm sure of how many of us are visualising it and hoping for a positive path for you to carry on. take your time, heal, never stop fighting, we believe in you, we're waiting for you.
María Guerra (Caracas, Venezuela)

Jules, J'espère de tout cœur que tu pourras lire tous ces messages. Ça fait deux semaines déjà et j'ai toujours du mal à trouver le sommeil. Je pense tous les jours à toi, à ta famille et je souhaite plus que tout te revoir dans le paddock la saison prochaine car un brillant avenir t'attend dans une grande écurie! Si tu savais comme le monde du sport auto te soutient, c'est impression et très touchant. Remets-toi et reviens vite!! #ForzaJules Karine

Cher Jules, Je pense fort à toi et t'envoie à toi, ta famille, et tous les gens qui t'aiment force et courage. Continue de te battre comme tu l'as toujours fait Champion! Forza Jules, Forza à vous tous. Tous avec Jules, Tous avec vous. Irina, France.

Dear Jules, and those who love him, I've been a huge fan since mid-2012, upon discovering that you were often in my favourite driver's car for FP1. I've been a huge fan ever since, and have been lucky enough to watch you in person on three occasions. The first was at Silverstone in 2013, where my best friend nearly fainted upon seeing you on the stage in person. The second was at Silverstone this year. Given the excitement of the previous year we pushed our way almost to the front so we could wave our flags. You spotted my friend's with 'Allez Jules!' written across it in big letters and smiled and thumbs up-ed in our direction and I didn't think she'd ever been happier in her life. That was until the third time I got to see you drive at testing a couple of days later. Not only was the thrill of sitting right up next to the fence on the pit straight electrifying, but during the pit walk something amazing happened. We'd been waiting around outside your garage for a bit, having asked where you were, and were told you were in a meeting with Ferrari. As your (self-proclaimed) biggest fan this did not go down well with my best friend, who asked the mechanic who told us where you were if he'd be able to take a couple of things and ask if you could sign them. Off he went and we waited about, trying to be optimistic but understanding that a meeting with Ferrari was far more important than signing a flag and a piece of paper. And lo and behold, a few minutes later the mechanic (who I'd love to thank but whose name I don't know) returned with our items, signed by you! My friend wrapped herself in the flag all the way home (I took a photo and tweeted it, which you saw) and that was the happiest I've ever seen her, and I keep your autograph above my desk for motivation when doing homework, knowing that a future world champion cares enough for his fans to take a sliver of time out of a Ferrari meeting is something I'll never forget. I can't wait until you read these messages, and I really hope that it'll be sooner rather than later. All my thoughts and prayers are with you and your family and friends, as well as my love. Keep fighting champion, this is one battle you will come out on top of! Natasha xx – From England

S'imaginer la Formule 1 sans le numéro 17 relève de l'impossible, alors, nous ne le faisons tout simplement pas. Jules est et reste notre champion. Nous avons une pensée pour lui chaque jour et gardons sa famille, ses proches et lui dans nos coeurs jusqu'à son rétablissement. A bientôt, champion ! Ta plus grande course n'a fait que commencer, ne renonce pas, ne baisse pas les bras. Nous te verrons, tout sourire et bien-portant, à l'arrivée.

Dear Jules, You are in my prayers everyday, and thousands around the world have you and your family in their thoughts and prayers. Jules, the entire motorsport world has gathered in unison to show you what you mean to us all. You are one of the best drivers on the grid and everyone knows that you are a future world champion in the making. You are one of the nicest people ever to grace the F1 paddock, never angry, never selfish, never arrogant. Formula 1 needs people like you to remind us not everyone is a PR bot, the world needs people like you to provide faith in humanity's goodness. I, and the entire motorsport world, wish to see you back in the paddock and in a racecar as soon as possible, we need you with us buddy. Keep fighting! #ForzaJules Chris from England

Dear Jules and the Bianchi Family I know it's been a terrifying 2 weeks for you and your family but I truly believe that you will come out of this. The whole F1 family loves you and is thinking about you Jules and Bianchi family. Please don't ever give up and please know that you can always trust in God, He will help you pull through! "With men some things are impossible, but with God all things are possible." – Matthew 19:26. It is possible Jules, you can come out of this! Keep fighting! I pray that God heals you Jules and covers you with the blood of Jesus in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ Amen. My thoughts and prayers are with you Jules. You are loved. From Johannesburg, South Africa

Jules, I've supported you for a long time. You were just a young talented guy and I was so proud and happy when you were announced as a F1 driver. You have no idea how happy I was when I met you and took picture with you in 2012. And I was maybe even happier when you scored your first points. But now everything has changed. Now I just pray for you and wish you recovery. Doesn't matter if you will drive f1 one day, the most important thing is to live normal life. And that's what I wish to you – just a normal life. Keep fighting Jules. I believe in you as always! Forza Jules!

Hei Jules, if you're reading this it means that you're ok 😊 well I prayed for you, because you're so special for me... omg I want to see you in Ferrari!! So please return to race and show us that you're ok Kiss from Italy

If this situation is killing me, a regular fan, I can't imagine how it is for the family and everyone close to him. He is a gorgeous human being and a great athlete to admire, he will make it. Stay strong! You have our support.
Natalia Spain

To Jules, His family & every of his many friends in both racing and his own life, I have had F1 close to my heart ever since I was a young boy. Everything about it just wowed me, the noises, the shapes, the sheer speed of the machines. But, I also had to acknowledge the danger, that came along with it. Every time I saw an accident, I knew that the presence of danger had made it's return. Most of the time they were simple shunts that the drivers walked away from, but others, like Robert Kubica's accident in Montreal 2007, they weren't as simple. They shook us (and F1) to the very core. But, using Kubica as an example, he returned to F1 and a year later, at the same place as his accident, took his first (& currently only) win. If Robert is anything to go by, he is proof that hope can never truly fade. Get better soon, Jules. And when your F1 seat beckons, drive like bloody hell. #ForzaJules17

Dear Jules, You are in mind every single day. Please come back and keep fighting! with respect and admiration to my XXIst century hero. Racing Daydreamer From Bolivia

Jules and family, I started watching Formula 1 in 1994. I was a newbie to autosport. I did not have a favourite driver but I loved Ferrari road cars. I have a German heritage so I really liked Schumi. Ayrton died that year. Schumi went on to drive for Ferrari and they became my team. When he retired, there was such a void for me, and it took me a while to figure out who my new favourite driver was and is. It's you Jules... We met in 2013 and 2014 in the Thursday pit walkthru in Montreal Canada. I have pictures with you, and I'm very proud of them. I'm hurting for you Jules, I wish you all the best, and hope that you feel the love that surrounds you from all the corners of the Earth. Get well soon #JB17 #ForzaJules #ForzaMichael Michael Everett Canada

Ashley Preston Keep fighting jules. We know you can get through this. I was lucky enough to meet you on the F1 show back in may. Hope you liked my f1 tattoos. #keepfighting mate. Thoughts with all your friends & family. From Ashley in England

Jules and the Bianchi family, My heart goes out to you. I cannot begin to imagine what you are going through at the moment. I hope that you can take great solace in the huge number of messages of support for you. You have been, and continue to be in my thoughts every day since the accident. Jules is a fighter, and I believe that he can get through this. Stay strong and keep believing, I'm sure that Jules will show that fighting spirit once more. All my love and best wishes, Katie, from England xxx

We for sure can't even imagine the pain of a family who see a son, a brother, a boyfriend suffering, we can only know how a car missing on the grid feels like, how to see 21 drivers instead of 22 feels like. Anyway, it hurts. And that's why everyone is thinking of you everyday and everynight, why everyone is praying for you, for you to come back to smile, to race. You can do it, you will do it, we're waiting for you! #ForzaJules don't give up! Lucia, Italy

Dear Jules and Bianchi family, We are all praying for you Jules, and sending the best possible wishes and thoughts to you and your family and friends. Keeping fighting Jules, nous sommes tous avec vous. Prayers and thoughts, Riley Forson (UK)

The first time I saw you racing was in Silverstone, 2011. You were in GP2, you just won that race. Pure talent dressed up in overall. From that time on I started following your career, sitting in front of the tv, crossing fingers for you whenever you sit in your car. Biting my nails off while waiting news about you, for your contracts. When you were racing in World Series, I met you in Hungary and that day became the best day in my life. You made it the best. My dream was to become a journalist, so that I could meet you, ask you if you remembered me, ask you a lot of questions. And I will make my dream come true. So you have to make it now. We will have that interview, sitting in a fancy little café. There is not a day to pass without thinking of you, thinking about your family. The whole world is by your side, sending all our prayers and strenght to you. And you have to feel it. You have to make it. We all want to see that megawatt smile and hear your voice. You are a fighter, and you must win this race now. Nothing is more important. The best is yet to come. Greetings and a warm hug from Hungary, Alexandra

Nous pensons si fort à toi Jules ! On ne se connait pas mais comme tous les passionnés de formule 1 j'ai beaucoup d'affection pour toi, tu es un pilote bourré de talent mais aussi tellement sympathique... On suit tes courses avec énormément d'intérêt, tu fais parti de ces pilotes pour qui mon cœur bat un peu plus fort lors de chaque course. Je t'ai rencontré l'an passé au GP d'Espagne et tu as tout simplement été adorable, alors juste... merci. Bats toi Jules, bats toi, tu peux sortir vainqueur de ce combat difficile !! !! FORZA !! Et à tes parents, à Mélanie, à Tom, à Camille, à tous les gens qui t'aiment, courage, soyez forts, on ne peut pas imaginer à quel point cette attente doit être terrible, nous sommes de tout coeur avec vous <3

To Jules and his loved ones It's so sad to have to write this lines. I know that nothing that I could say can express how painful is what has happened, but I guess in bad times, the courage and the support are the best to face it. I'm so sorry for what happened. Jules is a great racer, and I guess is best human being. I hope that strong and character that he has showed on a track can keep showing us in the life. We keep praying for you, Jules. Your family needs you. The world needs people like you. Keep fighting. CourageJules!

It is heartbreaking to be having to write in another one of these but what I have to say holds true for both Jules and Michael. Recovery is hard, having done it myself, there are good days and bad days but eventually all those days add up to make progress over time. Celebrate the small victories and don't lose heart during the tough times. Don't feel the need to rush anything, take your time to recover properly. Please know that you are not alone and there are so many people hoping and praying for Jules and thinking of you the family at this tough time. Anna, United Kingdom.

Love from Hungary Dear Jules and family, what happened at the weekend in Suzuka , incomprehensible to the rest of the world. Since then, I wake up every morning, like it was just a nightmare. But it wasn't. I keep tabs on Jules's career since a long time and when I first saw him, I knew, that he has to compete in the Formula 1. Therefore I was happy, when I saw at the Marussia in 2013. When he finished in the ninth place in Monaco I was so happy that I clapped standing. I haven't got a chance to meet him yet, but I know that he is a very sympathetic, nice and cute guy because of the statement and photos of him. Thanks to this, he got into my heart easily and I love him, like my brother. Every day I'm praying for him and his family to survive these difficult times. All my thoughts are with him and his family. I'm believing, I'm knowing, I'm feeling all will be well, and we'll get back the Jules, who he was. We'll see him again smiling, joking. Jules, U're fighter! Whatever U did , U won it all. U'll win this competition. Philippe, Christine, Tom and Melanie don't give up. We are all with You! <3 Tous avec vous <3 #PrayForJules #ForzaJules #TousAvecJules Katka Love from Hungary

Jules, you're an athlete, so I know you have strength and faith, but I'd still lend you mine if I could. As it is, you have my prayers for your recovery. It's always been a joy to watch you compete in your chosen sport. A couple weeks ago, you chose my sport, too, by running your first half marathon. You have so many more races to run. Bianchi family, you are also in my thoughts and prayers in this time of waiting. I know it isn't easy, but I hope these messages of support- and the knowledge that Jules is so loved by so many- help in some way. All the best, Katie Ann United States

Jules, Tous les jours, mes pensées sont pour toi. En tant que fan de F1, je suis profondément touché par ce qu'il t'est arrivé. Tous les jours j'espère pouvoir entendre une bonne nouvelle à ton sujet. J'ai la conviction que tu vas réussir à t'en sortir. Tu es un battant, un warrior comme on dit. Ce que tu as fait à Monaco cette année est tout simplement exceptionnel. Tu as réalisé ce qu'on pouvait penser impossible, et tu as marqué tes premiers points. J'étais vraiment content pour toi ce jour là. Tu es doté d'un talent fou. Depuis Suzuka, la seule chose que j'espère, c'est d'apprendre que ton état s'améliore. Nous sommes tous derrière toi. Continue de te battre Champion. Si quelqu'un peut traverser cette épreuve, c'est bien toi. Tu vas y arriver Jules. Je pense également très fort à la famille et aux proches de Jules. J'aimerais vous exprimer toute ma compassion et vous apporter tout mon soutien. Je suis de tout cœur avec vous et j'espère que tout va vite rentrer dans l'ordre. Restez forts. Allez Jules, tu vas remporter cette course, toutes mes pensées t'accompagnent. Tu vas le faire Champion, tu vas t'en sortir, j'en suis sûr ! Forza Jules !

Michaela Devonport

Keep fighting Jules, the whole of the F1 family are sending you best wishes and love. Also sending lots of support to your family! Xxxxx

Jules, you are one of the very few drivers on the grid who I see as a future F1 champion, and throughout your career so far I've never seen any reason to think otherwise. I have seen miracles in my time, and I have full faith that your recovery will be one of them, and thereafter your journey en-route to becoming Formula 1 World Champion. You will remain in my hopes and prayers. Topher Smith, England #ForzaJules

Cindy Toutes nos prières sont avec toi Jules. Tu es un champion, tu vas gagner gagner cette course. Et tous ceux qui ont eut la chance de te connaître ou de te rencontrer (comme moi) auront la chance de bientôt revoir ton beau sourire. On pense tous fort à toi et si notre amour pouvait te réveiller tu serais déjà debout. On te le garde au chaud en attendant. Bon courage à vous tous et forza jules

Mark Eakin Keep fighting Jules! The whole sporting community is hoping for you to make a speedy recovery! Stay strong and know that all our thoughts are with you and your family. #ForzaJules

All our support, thoughts and prayers remain with Jules Bianchi and his family. This is the most important lap of your life and we all believe that you can win this. Come on Jules! We in South Africa send our love, strength and prayers to Jules. #ForzaJules

Junaid Samodien from Cape Town, South Africa.

Dear Jules, You are a very strong young man, we believe in you. You are one of the big champions of our future, so you have to fight like one. You have to show us, that you will win this race, because you can. We are thinking about you every day. You get positive energy from all over the world, because everybody loves you. And we give this energy not only to you, to your family and your friends too. Never give up, keep fighting!!! #ForzaJules Réka C. from Hungary

Jenni Royston Jules, you are one of the brightest talents in motorsport, and I know that whatever happens you will continue to shine. It speaks volumes that nobody has had a single negative thing to say about you, you must be a great character. I am sending you and your family wishes for the best. Keep fighting, if anyone can do it it is Marussia's only ever point scorer! xx

Patrick Parkinson To Jules and the Bianchi family and friends, We are all with you however long it takes. #forzajules

Laura Mckendrick Stay strong jules. Can't believe this happened to you. Thoughts are with your family & Camille. Please get better your f1's future
xxxxxx

Myself, my family, my friends, the motorsport community are all thinking of you Jules. I hope the overwhelming support shows your family how much you are loved by not just those who work with you, but also those who admire what you do for a living and how much effort that went into getting at the top level.
Rory Mitchell, UK

Nikolas Allez Jules! We all wish for as complete and quick a recovery as possible. To the Bianchi family, we wish for all the strength you need in this time. We know Jules will never give up and we will never stop thinking of him.

Banu Baarathi Hey Jules There's not one day that goes by where every single motorsports fan doesn't think of you. You fight this for your family Jules. You fight this for yourself. We're all right behind you chanting your name and urging you to get through this. This is the biggest fight of your life. Fight it like you would on a track. We love you so much and can't wait to see your smile again Forza Jules Banu

To Jules, and family, We are with you. Ross #ForzaJules #JB17

Emma Bracegirdle To Jules' family and friends, You've constantly been in our thoughts since Suzuka, and will continue to be so, for however long this ordeal lasts. It's hard to think of anything to say that would comfort you during such an awful time. It goes without saying that Jules is in the best possible hands, and has his youth and fitness on his side. He's done so well already to get this far, so there's no way that he'll give up now – he's too competitive. Know that you're not alone, that we're all here to support you, and that we'll always be thinking of you all. #ForzaJules Emma, United Kingdom

Alliandre Dear Bianchi family, in these last 15 days I ended every day with a prayer for Jules and a hug for you. Please stay strong, please keep fighting. Don't leave us, Jules. I am an old F1 fan, I remember following the races of Mario Andretti when I was very young, and then Lauda and Hunt and Villeneuve and Senna and Prost and Rosberg (the father) and Piquet and Mansell and oh so many names. I remember lots of races and unfortunately lots of accidents too. After some years I stopped, life intervened with other things in mind. I started again being a fan three years ago, with my son, and this F1 gave me the illusion that it was becoming safer and safer, I saw accidents and pilots jumping out of cars soon after. I've loved Jules and his driving style straight away. The thing this F1 did to me was, I wasn't accustomed anymore to bad accidents like in the old days. When I saw Suzuka I just thought ok, now he'll come out of the car. Ok, c'mon, where is he? And then they stopped the race and all the bad news flowed in. I didn't feel so bad in so many years, and I cannot even start to imagine what it is to have your beloved son in hospital like that, not even having had my mom in a coma, because then it was different, but nonetheless so many bad memories come to life. I couldn't see that clip of the accident that did the rounds in the net, it was so horrible to have it around. I'm happy they took it away, and happy too that you did not see it. Please don't do it, ever. You're a wonderful family, and have been so thoughtful of fans when you informed us so precisely of Jules' conditions. I couldn't believe it, you're a special family. I send you tons of love and strength and prayers every day. Forza Jules, you can do it.

Dear Jules, I hope you will be strong and win this the most important race. People all over the world are praying for you and send their positive thoughts to you. Keep on fighting! My thoughts and prayers are always with you. #ForzaJules# Anastasia from St.Petersburg,Russia

Katy Peach Just get well soon ok Jules? We miss you 😞 keep fighting Lots of love to your family and friends. Katy x

Igor Azarkevich Dear Jules and family! Stay strong in difficult times. I am praying for Jules every day and believe he can do it! Forza Jules!
Igor, Saint-Petersburg, Russia

Dear Jules, I cannot begin to imagine what you and your family are going through at this time, but please know that so many people are supporting you and your recovery – praying for you, thinking of you and always hoping for a positive outcome... You are the same age as my eldest son, far too young to find yourself in the situation you do now, your life is just beginning and my heart goes out to your parents and those closest to you, who will be suffering as they watch you battle for survival. Please keep strong, fight on and never give up hope... We will continue holding you close in heart and mind xxx Chevaun, England.

Jules, stay strong please. Get well soon, stay strong. I think about you and your family every day. Many people in the world miss you and your smile. Please, don't give up. Tanya

Jules, Get well soon – I enjoyed watching your races for the last couple of seasons because you were a good driver. I am hoping that you will make a full recovery so that I can get to see you race again... Formula 1 is not the same without you – keep on fighting! Peter, England

Stay strong, Jules! Keep fighting! We are all with you! We BELIEVE in you!!! Evgenia, Russia

Anita Kovács Dear Jules! It is difficult to find any words... I clearly remember the day when I met YOU at the Airport of Budapest in 2013 and also in this year. You was very good-looking and also very kind with everyone. YOU were smiling and smiling while YOU were among fans. The picture about us and the autograph what You signed is an eternal relics for me. The next day I met you again. I gave a present to you with these words „ Jules, a present for you”. And You asked me back with a big smile again „ present for me?” „Yes” I said. You were very kind! Hmm....that was a cute moment for me! I have been thinking about you everyday since that terrible afternoon in Japan! You are the best! I know you never give up! I want to meet you and see your cute smile again in Budapest the next year! I will waiting for you... You said in an interview: „ Will I ever get to realize that dream? I Don't know. But given that I have fulfilled my first goal of driving in F1, why not aspire to fulfilling the even bigger dream? Until next time...” Stay strong and keep fighting Jules! My thoughts and prayers are with YOU. YOU are loved. <3 I tinkling for YOU every day!!!! 😞 On pense à toi tous les jours...#ForzaJules #JB17 Love from Monostorpályi, Hungary Anita Kovács (Juankimita)

Marina Grigoreva

Dear Jules, Stay strong and keep fighting, we miss you so much. Get well soon. Praying for you and your family. #ForzaJules Marina, Russia, Krasnodar

Dear Jules and his loved ones, Jules, you are an inspiration – and you have inspired me through what has been the most difficult year of my life with your incredible positivity and determination at every single race. Your phenomenal P9 in Monaco, which was so unbelievably well-deserved for both you and everyone at Marussia and more than showcased your brilliant skill, happened in the middle of my exams and just seemed to prove that if you want something enough and you try as hard as you can to get it – anything is possible. I've been a fan of yours since your time in WSR in 2012 and you've been my favourite driver ever since. I've also had the privilege of watching you drive 3 times at Silverstone – once at the GP last year, and then again at both the GP and the in-season test this year. At the test, you took just a small moment out of a Ferrari meeting to sign the Allez Jules flag I'd been waving for you all weekend and in doing so just gave me another reason to support you, because you took a moment out of something so important to make just a fan so happy. Stay strong, all of you, everyone is behind you, cheering you on and believing. My heart, my thoughts and my prayers are with you and your family Jules – keep fighting Jules, allez Jules, forza Jules – you can win this too. Lucy – from the UK xx

Salli Keep fighting Jules!!! STAY STRONG!!! GET WELL SOON AND COME BACK SOON!!! We are waiting for you!!!

Yoshimi Dear Jules I was in Suzuka on that Sunday... since then always thinking of you and your family. We Japanese Formula1 fans are very proud of Suzuka Circuit but I don't mind if you hate it. You don't have to stay in Japan anymore ! Please, please wake up ASAP !! And please come back to complete your laps in near future with your smile. #AllezJules #ForzaJules #KeepFightingJules #PrayForJules

Akiko Mitsuhashi Dear Jules and Jules' family I'm always thinking about you. And I pray for your recovery. Japan is far from France, so I am worried that your family spend difficult time. I live in Japan. So I hope that I can do something for you and your family. Japanese fans think the same thing. If you or your family needs support, please ask us. My dream is to be an F1 engineer. So, I hope we can meet in the circuit as an engineer and a driver someday. Keep fighting, and never give up. All we are waiting for you. Tose Avec Jules. Akiko from Japan

James Bacon Dear Jules You are in our thoughts and prayers. Get well soon. James

Zakaly jani..... Keep fighting Jules! The whole sporting community is hoping for you to make a speedy recovery! Stay strong and know that all our thoughts are with you and your family. Keep fighting. Zakaly Jani.. SLOVAKIA..

Camilla Lemström Dear Bianchi family, It pains me to think that you're still in Japan. I'm sending you all a lot of strength and positive thoughts. Wish I could do more. Jules, you're an inspiration and a hero to so many of us. Whenever I'm having a tough time I keep thinking about your incredible fight in Monaco. It makes me smile. "when you think all is lost, when all is dire and bleak, there is always hope." Camilla, Finland.

Evelin Seres Dear Jules and family, Come on Jules, stay strong! I believe in the miracles and I believe in you! You are the best! I give a thought to you every day and I am praying for you!:) #ForzaJules #PrayforJules! #KeepFighting! Evelin Seres from Hungary.

Harish Kotian Jules...never give up! All the prayers from your fans and F1 fans worldwide will surely work. I just want his family to stay positive and some good news will come. Praying for Jules and his quick recovery from Mumbai, India...cheers

Maria Sacher Dear Jules, I've never met you in my life and I wish I had, but I feel for you like a brother. I want you and your family to know that every night before going to sleep I think of you alone in your hospital bed and I try to send you a lot of positive energy. I continue to dream you'll wake up and come back to F1 and I hope you can do it. You're a fighter, as your dad said, and I'm sure that if you can reach points with a little team like Marussia you can win the most important race of your life and come back to us, your family and friends. You're a wonderful guy, everybody in the paddock and in the racing world loves you and all this love and positive energy will help you in this battle. I hope you come back soon, don't forget the 2nd Ferrari is already waiting for you! Maria from Italy

Ananya Srinidhi Jules, we're thinking of you and praying for you constantly. You're a fighter and you can get through this hard time. We're proud of you and we're with you through this.

Mike Heal For the last two years I've been watching you in F1, Jules and without a shadow of a doubt you are one of the biggest talents the sport has to offer. Watching TV coverage and talking to friends, I can't think of a single person who has said a bad thing about you. Monaco 2014 was a great race and battle to earn 2 points for the team and that was down to great courage and spirit. This is a tougher battle but you have the fight to get to the chequered flag again Jules. Keep Fighting Jules.
Forza Jules- Mike , UK
